FOR CREATIVE TEAMS (builders of art quest worlds)

What budget is allocated for building a world?

After selection, the team receives an approved materials budget. Bringing your own materials is welcome.

How much time is available for setup and dismantling?

Setup: July 26-30 (4 days). Dismantling: August 4-5 (2 days). The festival runs July 31-August 3.

Can we use fire, electricity or water in the location?

Yes, but only after approval from the technical director and safety curator. All structures are checked for stability and fire safety.

Who owns the rights to the world concept?

Copyright remains with the team. The festival receives the right to use photos, videos and descriptions of the world in promotional materials with attribution.

Can the location remain after the festival?

Yes, by agreement with the organizers and landowner, if it does not conflict with ecological principles and the dismantling plan.

FOR VOLUNTEERS

Is volunteer experience required?

No. Responsibility, teamwork and willingness to learn are what matter most. Skills such as first aid, photography or radio communication are a plus, but not required.

What is the shift schedule?

Two to four shifts of six hours over six festival days. The rest of the time is yours: practices, stage, rest and networking.

What does a volunteer receive?

A camping place in a separate zone, three meals a day, access to all activities, a certificate and a recommendation letter.

Can I attend practices when I am not on shift?

Yes. Volunteers have full access to the festival program in their free time.

What if I get sick or cannot come?

Tell the coordinator at least 48 hours in advance so we can find a replacement. In emergencies, write at any time; we are available.
